Guest Speaker

NEIL ANDREW

ALUMNUS, FOUNDER AND CEO OF THE BABY FOOD COMPANY

After graduating from the then University of Natal with a BCom, Neil held management positions in organisations ranging from NGOs to private schools to property development companies. These diverse experiences prepared him for his next venture, Andrew Accounting, where he worked as a Pastel Accounting consultant for a few years.

Neil's journey as a CEO began when he and his wife Rozi, whom he met at university, welcomed their two children into the world. They saw an opportunity in South Africa to make nutritionally balanced baby food free from added sugars, salts, and various additives. They were also confident they could make baby food that tasted great. With their innovative idea in hand, they pitched it to Woolworths, and so The Baby Food Company was born. Since 2006, the company has been supplying Woolworths with its delicious, wholesome baby food and other products.
